Dear Parents and Carers,

Weekly Update

Students in Years 11 and 13 should be very proud of their performance in exams. I'm sure that they will put the half-term holiday to good use, blending revision with rest and relaxation.

My thanks also to the colleagues who supported the Duke of Edinburgh trips over the weekend.

Expectations Focus

The final half-term is always the right time to re-focus the students in order to ensure that it remains productive (and to avoid 'drifting' towards the summer holiday). On the first day back students in Years 7-10 will have assemblies with senior leaders to set out our expectations for the rest of the year. We know that such messages are always better understood by the students (and therefore more impactful) when parents and carers are reinforcing the same messages. Therefore, I would be very grateful if you could review the separate communication regarding this initiative and support your child to understand what we are doing and why. As always, should you have any questions or comments, please contact us.

Exam Support

Should you need to contact us during the exam period, please don't hesitate to email:

Summer Concert

Remember to save the date for our Summer Concert to be held on Wednesday 9th July. More information will follow.

I hope that all of the students enjoy a good half-term break. The final half-term of the academic year begins at 8.20am on Monday 2nd June.

Best wishes,

Nick McSweeney
