Head Teacher's Summary

Dear Parents and Carers,

I have felt incredibly honoured to serve as The Emmbrook's acting headteacher this half-term. I can honestly say that it has been the most engaging and rewarding (and tiring!) 7 weeks of my career to date. I am struck by the incredibly varied nature of the role. I am also excited to see the impact that it is possible to have, and feel confident that we can continue to make rapid progress. Finally, I have been humbled by the support that I have received from staff, students and parents; The Emmbrook Family at its best!

Our school is a community that we can all be proud of. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the colleagues who are leaving us this term: Mrs Comanescu, Mr Wilcox, Mr Patten, Dr Lea and Mrs Ibanez-Martinez will all be moving on to new ventures; although they have only been with us for a relatively short period of time, they have each made an impact and I wish them all the best for the future. Miss Ring, our Curriculum Leader for Drama is leaving after five years to lead drama at LVS; she leaves an outstanding legacy, a high performing department with a reputation for excellence. Mr McNaughton, who has been a pillar within D&T and lead Tirabad and Duke of Edinburgh with distinction, will be moving to Luckley House after 10 years with us. Mr Ging, a former Emmbrook student himself, has made a stellar contribution to drama over the last 12 years. More recently, Mr Ging has provided rigorous leadership of our Sixth Form. He leaves us to take up a post as Assistant Headteacher at Furze Platt School, which is a brilliant opportunity. Finally, we have two long standing members of staff retiring this year. After 27 years, Mrs Nicol has become the very definition of Food Technology here at The Emmbrook! She is a hugely committed teacher who expects the most from every student that she teaches; she will be missed. Our last farewell is to Mr Oxley, who has worked at the school for an astonishing 33 years. Mr Oxley has been at the heart of physics teaching at the school, and will be remembered fondly by generations of Emmbrook students.

We have worked hard to appoint a strong team of new and returning colleagues for September. I look forward to welcoming them all:

- Abigail Alder – English Teacher
- Tariq Amin – Business Studies Teacher
- Jyoti Chopra – Curriculum Leader for Maths
- Joe Curry – Subject Leader for Physics
- Ryan Edwards – PE & Science Teacher
- Rebecca Long – Key Stage Leader for Maths
- Ashley Malyan – Curriculum Leader for Drama
- Charlotte Mann – English Teacher
- Jasmine Meader – D&T Teacher
- Mary Meanwell – English & Drama Teacher
- Shona Pepper – English Teacher
- Katie Ridgers – D&T Teacher
- Deanna Taylor – PE & Science Teacher

Each term one colleague receives the Governors' Award, to recognise their outstanding contribution to the school. This term's winner is Steph Guinn our Staffing Manager. Steph has put in a huge amount of work throughout the term working on a number of vital projects and I am incredibly grateful.

As a teaching staff, we will further embed the improved behaviour protocols launched this term, whilst continuing our work to implement curriculum reforms. In the meantime, we will see our Year 13 students on Thursday 15th August for their A-level results and Year 11 on Thursday 22nd for the GCSE results.

I would like to wish you all a happy and restful summer.
Best wishes,

Nick McSweeney
Acting Headteacher

Sports Day

Sports Day was an absolute triumph that demonstrated the best of Emmbrook. With high quality sport, great musical entertainment, an array of community involvement and an amazing atmosphere created by the warmth and involvement of our students.

Alongside an extravagant programme of athletics events, we saw welly throwing, skipping races and three legged races.

The 'colour run' was a fantastic end to the day in which students ran around an obstacle course with powder paint being thrown at them. Fun was had by all!

Drama Performance

Last week saw the whole school production of 'She Stoops To Conquer', performed by students in years 7, 8, 9 and 10. The show was a roaring success and the audience's laughter could be heard from the end of the drive! The magnificent Narges Fereshtehpour (Year 7) gave three excellent performances as the formidable Mrs Hardcastle whilst Josh Fowler (Year 8) had us in hysterics as the duped Mr Marlow. Ollie Ogden (Year 10) came into his own as the mischievous Tony Lumpkin and was a tremendous source of comedy throughout!

It was excellent to see cast members from previous productions sink their teeth in to new roles, whilst it was also wonderful to see so many new faces within the production this year from a range of year groups.

The students took on a play first performed in 1773 which is no mean feat! They created bold characters that were utterly charming and brilliantly retold the story. Life lessons have been learnt throughout this performance, most notably the boys have learnt how to put on and wear tights without laddering them! We couldn't be more proud of everyone involved!

This will be the last production that Mr Ging and I will direct here at The Emmbrook as we are both heading off to pastures new at the end of this academic year. Between us, we have directed 16 shows here and so would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support and engagement with the productions over the years. We wish Mr Malyan every luck moving forward in this fantastic department!

Music Review

What a busy year it has been ... but wonderful to see so many Emmbrook students making excellent progress in lessons and participating in extra-curricular music-making. The senior students have been fantastic role models for the younger students, and it has been great to see so many examples of our musicians of different ages, backgrounds and personalities, working together to create music. Alongside their regular music lessons, Emmbrook musicians have participated in a range of events and activities during the year, at each representing themselves, their families and the school with pride, enthusiasm, determination and displaying a range of other positive qualities, as well as showcasing much outstanding musical creativity and performance. Regardless of what stage along their own personal 'musical journeys' they are, they have given of their best and learnt a great deal from their experiences.

China 2019

On what was a cold grey morning on the 5th of April, 26 students and staff from the Emmbrook School embarked on a 10-day tour of China. Visiting 4 cities, over 26 attractions and historical sites, travelling on 6 planes, one train, 3 coaches and a tube and eating over 15 different variations of Chinese food – it was a jam-packed, non-stop tour and an amazing trip. Our first stop was the 'Political capital' of China, Beijing.

The capital of China and one of the oldest cities in the world, Beijing sits in the North and was the best place to start our trip. With essentially 2 and half days to explore Beijing we saw as much as possible, including 4 world heritage sites. We began with the Olympic stadium, a huge structure decorated to portray a bird nest- it was hard to miss. Next was Tiananmen square, one of the largest urban public spaces in the world, and it sure felt like it. Swarmed with visitors it was hard to admire the square, but we soon found ourselves hustled into the 'forbidden city' (one of the world heritage sites) at one end, which itself is over 961m long. What we discovered was a variety of beautifully decorated and colourful buildings all with unique pieces of history and meaning.

The second day was packed with visits to the Great Wall – which is much steeper than you think – entailing a 40-minute climb of over 200 steps (and that wasn't even the very top)! Exhausted but enthralled we next visited a jade factory, learning the old traditions and the meanings behind different carvings of jade. Finishing our day off with a trip to the Ming tombs – a collection of burial sites built for the emperors during the Ming dynasty - and a pearl factory where we learnt about the different types of pearl (plus we got to do a bit of shopping)! Finally, on what was a slightly rainy and cold last day in Beijing we visited the gorgeous summer palace (ironically in the rain) which is home to one of the largest gallery corridors in the world measuring at 728 meters. To finish our Beijing tour, we visited the Temple of Heaven and after boarding a high-speed train which would take 5 hours, we were next on our way to the 'Culture Capital' of China, Xi'an.

Arriving late meant our first impression of Xi'an was that of night-time and whilst there are no huge differences to be noted between it and Beijing, it was slightly more 'built up' featuring more skyscrapers. Our drive took us to our hotel which is located in old town Xi'an – the part of Xi'an where it is against the law to build skyscrapers it is marked out by the 'Wall of Xi'an'. The wall, which we were lucky enough to be able to cycle around the next day, is 13.75km long which would take about 4 hours to walk! We visited the wall after the amazing opportunity to visit the terracotta warriors. Discovered by farmers during the 1970's, honestly the only way to appreciate the magnificence and truly amazing story of the warriors is to visit. Next, we visited the bell tower which marks the centre of old Xi'an and off of which spikes the 4 directional main roads of Xi'an. Our final stop in Xi'an was to watch a Tang Dynasty dancing show which showcased traditional Chinese dancing and included a variety of music and acts. The next morning, we left for our 9am plane to Shanghai, the 'Economic capital' of China.

Shanghai was the most built up so far of the cities, including high skyscrapers and a bustling atmosphere it was amazing to witness the difference to our first stop in Beijing. The outskirts were filled with huge skyscrapers which we were promptly told were filled to the brim with apartments and houses. We began our tour of Shanghai with a trip to the Jade Buddha temple which showcases two huge buddhas made of jade which, the story tells, were being transported down the local river when the boat could not carry their heavy load any further so they were left in Shanghai and a temple was built for them. We next took a cruise along the Huangpu river and were able to clearly see the 'financial district' of Shanghai which features many old bank buildings compared to the other side of the river which is filled with modern glass buildings and offices. Finishing the evening with a walk along the bund and a visit to truly incredible acrobatics show we went to bed excited to explore the next day.

Our second and last day in Shanghai was filled with a visit to the Shanghai museum and to the beautiful Yu gardens, filled with pink and red flowers it was a hidden gem within a huge market which we thankfully were allowed some time to explore. We took a trip out of the city later in the day to visit the Volkswagen manufacturing plant to learn about the making of the cars and the huge production line including what must be 100's of steps all to make one singular car. Next was a trip to an underground fakes market, the best place to buy t-shirts and jumpers that appeared to be the expensive brands. We all left happy with our purchases which included fake Lego, fake trainers and fake air pods. Finally, we were treated to a trip up the Jin Mao tower which is one of the tallest skyscrapers in Shanghai where we got a night view of Shanghai and wobbly legs if you looked out of the window for too long!

Our final destination was Hong Kong which we soon learnt was much more westernised compared to our other stops. Hong Kong have separate laws to the rest of China know as 'One country, two systems' which basically allows free speech and the right to protest, this way of governing will remain till 2047 when the laws will be re-negotiated. One of the other differences we immediately noticed was the humidity, think of 26° heat and then add rain. Nonetheless we pulled on our rain coats and started the trip by visiting yet another fake market. The next day we caught the metro to the Sky 100 tower, giving us an aerial view of Hong Kong and the harbour, before we then caught the metro to the 'Avenue of Stars' which instead gave us a walking view of the harbour and of the famous 'Bruce Lee' statue. Next was a ferry to Hong Kong island where we walked to catch the tram to Victoria Peak. Whilst the view from the peak, which is 552m above sea level, wasn't very clear we enjoyed the tram ride and the experience. Finally we visited St John's Cathedral which was built by the British before being surprised with our final meal in China at the 'Hard Rock Café' - it's safe to say our spirits were lifted by the huge burgers that arrived at the table.

Embarking on our flights home was sad but before we knew it our 16 hours of travel were over and we were back home in England, exhausted but all of us thankful for such an amazing opportunity.

Year 7 Day trip to France

Our France taster was fantastic! The day was packed full of activities and sights that really caught our eyes. The trip was a great experience that everyone really enjoyed. The beautiful weather really added to the day. Although it was tiring, it wasn't lacking a single ounce of energy.

When we arrived at school, we all rushed onto the coach. Our minds were buzzing the whole way to the ferry. We got onto the ferry and roamed around until we reached our destination.

Flinging our shoes off when we got to the beach, we hurried to play on the white sand, laughing and shouting. The hour or two we spent there was splendid!

Next, we walked to the aquarium and went through security. As we entered, we instantly caught sight of numerous tanks filled with vibrant fish and other exotic sea creatures. Thankfully, only a few of them were creepy!

As well as all of this, we also went to a bakery. We made croissants as well as we could.

However, there was a fierce French man whacking a wooden stick next to our hands! Although it was scary, we had a great time!

On the way back to the ferry we stopped off at a supermarket and had lots of fun trying to find the right aisles and stocking up with some French treats. The ride back on the ferry was beautiful. The whole boat was filled with a warm, glowing light from the sunset.

We finally arrived back at school and went our separate ways.

It was a day we will always keep in our memories. Thank you very much to my year and to all the staff who made this trip possible. I would definitely recommend it!

Celebrating Attendance

On the morning of Thursday, 18th July, Mr McSweeney met with some attendance winners. These students have, over the previous 2 months, made outstanding progress with their attendance. Each winner shook hands with Mr McSweeney and received a prize for their efforts. Mr Bhambra reminded them and other students that a new competition will start in September and will run to half term. We know that attendance is crucial in securing good outcomes at GCSE, so at The Emmbrook School, we want all of our students to have strong attendance.

At the end of this ceremony, the students were applauded and they also thanked Mr McSweeney for having the opportunity to win prizes. Mr McSweeney agreed that these winners would be included in future competitions. Thanks also go to Mrs Abbott who is always busy in the background doing all of the administration as well as encouraging students to attend regularly.

Alas, our competition winners were too shy to have their pictures taken and we obviously respect their position.

Six Word Stories

Inspired by the famous six word story (For sale: baby shoes, never worn), students in Year 7 English set 2b have been trying to write just six words which will intrigue, move or entertain the reader.

Here are some of their six word stories.

Stop eating my chocolate cake, Keith. (Harry Drayton)

Holding hands then, letting go now. (Lucy Knight)

I'm pregnant. It's not yours. Sorry. (Precious Nkum)

Friends since babies. Friends now forever. (Emmy Hurley)

Twin Towers. What are we? Inhuman. (Miguel Arizabalo-Peralta)

Crashing waves, big storm, all alone. (Amanda Wolkind)

University visit for Year 12 Maths Students

On Friday 5th July Mr Parry, Miss Horne and Mr Marshall took the students studying maths in year 12 to the University of Portsmouth for a problem solving conference. The event was organised by the Advanced Mathematics Support programme (AMSP) and proved to be very useful for all involved.

The students were given plenty of opportunity to attempt mathematical problems and improve their skills in two sessions, one focusing on the advanced maths challenge and another using the fun maths roadshow. They also had excellent sessions on setting out their solutions properly and on university admissions tests.

However, the star of the day was Miss Horne, who impressed a session leader so much with her maths that she earned a gold star!

Rounders Success

MASSIVE CONGRATULATIONS to the Year 9 rounders team, who consisted of an incredible 7 x year 8's, for coming runners up in the Wokingham rounders tournament, despite being a player down. The girls were outstanding and won their pool having comfortably beaten Bohunt, Bulmershe and Holt. They then went on to play St Crispins, the winner of the other pool, in the final and unbelievably it was a draw with the same number of rounders and same number of people out. It then went to an intense game of sudden death as each team chose their 3 best batters to step up and have another go. St Crispins managed to knock the ball out of the park to score a rounder while we unfortunately didn't score any.

Nonetheless the girls were incredible! The Bulmershe teacher even tweeted the Emmbrook PE twitter account to say that Jasmine Kinsman's catch was the best he'd ever seen in his teaching career. Jasmine literally flew and dived in the air to catch one of their students out. The reaction of the other team was a huge applause which just goes to show how good her catch was! Jasmine received player of the match 4 times alongside Annie. Both girls were fantastic at batting and were 2 of the 3 that stepped up in the sudden death round. Becky Turpin being the other, who was my own personal player of the match.

What's even more impressive is that these year 8 girls stepped in with only a day's notice after my year 9's let me down. They rose to the occasion and I couldn't be prouder. Massive thanks to Sienna and Paige in year 9 for their continued commitment to every year 9 fixture too!

Sainsbury's Visitor

Year 10 Business students were privileged to have an hour with Judith Batchelar OBE, Director of Sainsbury's brand. She talked about her various jobs and experience before taking on this challenging role and highlighted the many opportunities available to people in the AgriFood sector.

She discussed the very large contribution this sector has to make in solving climate crisis by highlighting recent changes in plastic reduction and sustainable sourcing, something covered to the students' studies in Business and Science. She finished by talking about the variety of roles available to young people in this sector and she also gave our students some handy tips about how to do well in interviews, what to look for in a job and how to make connections with people.

New Futures

Y12 students from Emmbrook visited Tirabad with students from Addington School as well as fellow 6th formers from Charters and Maiden Erlegh. The trip was a massive success and I am so proud of how they supported each other and reflected on their experiences each day. Anyone who has been on this trip will know it is hard to put into words the lifelong memories made and skills developed. Here are some of the comments students wrote about this trip.

It's incredible how 5 days can give people so much growth and joy. These kids could cure the world's happiness. I am truly inspired and I hope my contribution to their fun inspired them too!
(Ellie Year 12)

I am glad to say that this year 12 trip was my most enjoyable, these kids have really changed my view of everything and everyone. I absolutely loved it!
(Aimee Year 12)

I have been constantly laughing and loved all the singing and dancing. Helping the students has taught me so much about myself.
(Emma Year 12)

This has been the most incredible week. All of the kids are incredible and have changed my perspective on life. By far the most amazing opportunity. Thank you.

(Sally Year 12)

I have never felt so moved and genuinely inspired by these young adults. Don't believe stigma, don't be in ignorance and don't judge. You'll never know who will change your life.

(Mark Year 12)

I have gained so many life skills that I hope will never leave me. The progress the students made fills me with so much joy and happiness.

New Football Pitch

The new pitch starts to built during the Summer holidays. This should be completed by October half term. The PE department (and school!) are all incredibly excited for this £800,000 investment that creates even more opportunities for our students.

There may be some disruption in the new year – but I think you will agree that it is worth it!

Over the last 5 weeks, we have been running after school masterclasses for all Year 5 students in the area. Subjects ranged from Classics to trampolining, including Business, Art, Drama and Maths.

We hosted over 200 students from 6 different schools. We were delighted with the engagement of the local schools, parents and students. The students were amazing, each session they were engaged, interested and polite.

We would like to send a massive thank you to all staff, parents and Year 5 students who took part in the experience.

School Painting Days

Many of you will be aware that the ERA works closely with local schools to encourage close cooperation with the local residents. The Emmbrook School (secondary) is looking for support in improving the school environment and the ERA is pleased to help encourage involvement from local residents.

Many parts of The Emmbrook are now over 50 years old, and that age is showing. The school needs to make the most of the buildings that they have and a fresh coat of paint will go a long way towards improving the look and feel of the school.

Noting the current challenging funding situation for all schools, The Emmbrook School is looking for support to help decorate the school over the summer holidays. Whilst the school is primarily approaching parents, any support from local residents would also be hugely appreciated.

This would largely be painting of classrooms and other internal spaces. Staff are planning to be in school between 10am and 4pm for the following dates:

- Wednesday 14th August
- Thursday 15th August
- Wednesday 21st August
- Thursday 22nd August

If you are able to offer your support, please email Jane Rimmer (jrimmer@emmbrook.wokingham.sch.uk) with any dates that you are willing to support.
